1. General Information

1.1. Programme Title

Minor Programme in Global China Studies
全球中国研究副修

1.2. Academic Unit Involved in the Delivery of the Programme

The Programme is to be jointly managed by Chinese Culture and Global Communication Programme (CCGC) and Centre of Foreign Languages and Cultures (CFLC).

1.3. Programme Aims, Objectives, and Intended Learning Outcomes

The aim of this Minor Programme is twofold. First it provides students with basic language skills to understand how China is depicted in different contexts and different places. For international students, they will learn basic Chinese to find out the diverse perceptions of “China” within China and in the rest of the world. For domestic students, they will learn a foreign language (e.g., French, German, Spanish, Japanese and Korean) to find out how China is seen abroad and how that image differs from what they think of as China.

Second, this Minor Programme teaches students a method to appreciate the creativity and ingenuity in cross-cultural exchanges. Grounded in language skills, comparative cultural studies, and an openness to differences, this method help students to be broad-minded and creative in our 21st century globalized world.

Since languages, inter-cultural communication and the openness to differences are skills highly valued in today’s national and international labour market, the primary objective of this Minor Programme is to increase students’ marketability by strengthening their portfolios for work placement and graduate school applications.

Table 1 outlines the Programme Intended Learning Outcomes (PILOs) of the Minor Programme in Global China Studies whereas Table 2 delineates the alignment of the PILOs with the Graduate Attributes (GAs) of UIC.

Table 1: Programme Intended Learning Outcomes (PILOs)

Upon successful completion of the Minor Programme, students should be able to:
PILO 1	Communicate at a beginner’s level in Chinese (for non-Chinese speakers)/Foreign (for Chinese speakers) language;
PILO 2	Explain the significance and value of cross-cultural exchange;
PILO 3	Contextualize the development of China’s role in the global system through a study of a specific theme.

1.4. Medium of Instruction

The medium of instruction for the Programme is English, supplemented with Chinese/Foreign Language for language courses.

1.5. Target Students

There are two distinct targets: international students of all majors are highly recommended to complete the Minor; all other UIC students except from CCGC Programme may opt in to the Minor by completing the courses.

1.6. Year of Implementation

The Minor Programme in Global China Studies has been offered from the Academic Year of 2022-2023.
